DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Group III, claims 15 and 16 in the reply filed on 3/26/2008 is acknowledged.

Status of Claims

Claims 1-20 are pending. Claims 1-14 and 17-20 are withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to the non-elected invention. Claims 15 and 16 are examined on the merits.

Priority

Applicant's claim for the benefit of a prior-filed application under 35 U.S.C. 119(a-d) is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112 2nd Paragraph

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 15 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 15 is rejected because it depends from a withdrawn claim and thus does not particularly point out the invention. Applicant should remove "...according to Claim 1..." from line 2 of the claim.

Claim 15 recites the limitation "the oil/fat-containing food" in line 1 and 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim because it depends from Claim 1, which was withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by SHAPIRA (US 6,156,351 see PTO-892).

Claim 15 is interpreted as a process that comprises one step. The step is adding ubiquinol and at least one of an emulsifier and oil/fat ingredient to any food, whether before or after processing/growing of the food.

SHAPIRA teaches chicken eggs with a mixture of antioxidants and poly-unsaturated fatty acids. The process involves feeding chickens a standard diet supplemented with antioxidants and fatty acids (see e.g. col 6 lines 38-57). A further process involves consuming the eggs. The antioxidants in the egg are edible (see claims 3 and 23) and preferably contain ubiquinol (see claims 9 and 29 lines 6 and 10); instant claim 15. The chickens are fed fat selected from canola oil, Trisun-80, olive oil, avocado oil, peanut oil, corn oil and soy oil (see e.g. claim 30) in unison with the antioxidants: instant claim 15. The standard feed to which the supplements are added are grain based and selected from mil, barley, rye oat, wheat, rice and corn based food mixtures (see e.g. col 6 lines 58-61).

Art Unit: 1615

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 15 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over SHAPIRA in view of YAJIMA et al. (US 2005/0069996 see PTO-892).

SHIPRA teaches chicken eggs with a mixture of antioxidants, specifically ubiquinol and poly-unsaturated fatty acids, as described above.

SHAPIRA does not explicitly teach using ubiquinol that has a purity in excess of 0.01%.

YAJIMA teaches a process for producing reduced coenzyme Q10 (ubiquinol) from microbial cells by fermentation. Tables 1-3 show the mole % of reduced coenzyme Q10 (ubiquinol) and it ranges from about 70 % to about 97%, which is far in excess of the 0.01% purity required by claim 16. YAJIMA further teaches that this form of reduced coenzyme Q10 is edible and can be used for in oral compositions (see e.g. p[0012]) and has excellent antioxidant properties (see e.g. p[0013]).

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use a high purity or higher than 0.01% ubiquinol in combination with an oil/fat for addition to food or feed, as taught by SHAPIRA in view of YAJIMA. One of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made would have been motivated to combine these elements into a single composition because of the beneficial effects of obtaining a pure form of ubiquinol, an antioxidant, as taught by YAJIMA. Absent any evidence to the contrary, and based upon the teachings of the prior art, there would have been a reasonable expectation of success in practicing the instantly claimed invention.

Conclusion

No Claims allowed.
